

The Last Emperor

Qi Shi Huang

S 5 V I S I T T O T H E L I V E R P O O L W O R L D M U S E U M

L A N S B U R Y B R I D G E S C H O O L S T U D E N T S
V I S I T T H E T E R R A C O T T A W A R R I O R S A T
T H E L I V E R P O O L W O R L D M U S E U M

During that morning when I arrived at class, we were getting our coats and lunch boxes ready to set off. When we went on the bus it took about an hour. As we got there ,we were extremely excited, however Miss Pardo could not find a parking space and grew more and more anxious. When we got inside the museum there were security guards, they checked our bags. When it was over we went upstairs to our first exhibit. When we got upstairs we were at the aquarium, I saw fish everywhere there was even a clown fish. After all the exhibits we were finally there at the Terracotta Exhibition. When I saw them, my mind was blown, they were just amazing.

The Terracotta army is an army that was found underground. The Emperor, Qin Shi Huang, had an obsession of immortality so hired people to create the Terracotta army to protect him in the afterlife. More then 2000 years later there was a farmer who was just digging a hole to make a well and noticed a stone with human features and, this is the way he discovered the Terracotta army.

It was an amazing experience in my point of view. We saw loads of displays

And interesting facts, for example ; 'About 600 years ago before becoming a powerful empire, the Qin people occupied a small region on the North West border of China. They served the Zhou kings by breeding and training horses when Zhou royal family set up a new capital in the East of China '.

Right at the end of the visit, there was a 3d projection of a short animation film onto a huge screen. After that, we went to the gift shop to have a look at the merchandise and buy some souvenirs .

Our display is awesome in school and if you are thinking of going to see the Terracotta army in Liverpool, we totally recommend it.

By Jessica Atherton , S5

